Hunt Clues In Murder Mystery At Kittanning

No Suspects As Yet In Slaying
Of Arthur V. Helm, Tool
Company Salesman

(International News Service)
KITTANNING, Pa., April 9.—Admission that he had no suspects in sight, State Motor Police today were calling on Arthur V. Helm's customers, hoping for some clue which might lead them to the trail of his "lover's lane" murderer.

Helm, 53, only full-time salesman for Louden Tool Company was slain in a secluded spot near an abandoned quarry. He was lured to the spot by an anonymous telephone call to his employer, Howard E. Brosius, manager of the tool company, according to police.

Carrying the dead man's account and order books, State Police were canvassing Clarion, Armstrong and parts of Jefferson counties.

Helm's body, shot twice in the back of the head and beaten on the forehead, was found early Sunday by his nephew, Arthur, on the bank of the Mahoning Creek, 16 miles from Kittanning.

LONDON, April 9.—Oslo apparently has fallen into German hands, according to a radio report from the Norwegian capital.

Reuter's agency today picked up a broadcast declaring that the Oslo chief of police had received orders from the German command that all evacuation of the city must cease and that all persons who have left must now return.

The broadcaster appealed to the population to remain calm and resume their normal duties.

The announcement, according to Reuter, apparently confirmed reports that Oslo is now in German hands, although the broadcast did not say so definitely.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—An official communique from Oslo, capital of Norway, to the Norwegian legation in Washington said today the coastal city of Bergen, second largest in the country, had been "occupied" by Germany.

Legation officials, however, said they doubted strongly that Bergen actually had been "occupied." They asserted it was more likely that German warships merely were standing off the coast.

The communique officially informed legation officials that Germany had demanded complete surrender of their country, and that the Nazi government's order had been rejected. It reported "hostilities now in progress."

NORWAY DECLARES STATE OF WAR EXISTS

Allies Reported Sending Aid To Norway—Naval Clash Believed In Progress

(International News Service)
War engulfed Scandinavia with lightning suddenness today when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's Nazi army swept across its northern frontier, forcing Denmark into immediate capitulation but encountering some opposition in Norway.

With Oslo reported the target of a German air raid, the Norwegian government evacuated to Hamar and sent out an appeal for immediate assistance from Great Britain and France, which was promised "forthwith." Report says that Oslo already has been occupied by the Germans.

Despite continued reports of Norwegian resistance, an official statement by the German high command in Berlin stated that "small, local" retaliation by Norway had come to an end.

State Of War Declared
Norway declared a state of war in existence against the Reich, while Hitler's government insisted, in broadcasts to the world and in an official manifesto to the Scandinavian peoples, that Norway and Denmark had been placed under German "protection" to forestall an alleged Allied plan to convert the northern states of Europe into the war's battlefield.

Reliable information indicated that British aid was dispatched to Norway immediately upon receipt of the Oslo appeal. The British and French governments have long had 100,000 fully equipped men held in readiness for dispatch to the northern field of operations.

Fragmentary reports told of stern resistance offered by the Norwegians to the invading Germans after Hitler launched his latest "Blitzkrieg" in retaliation for Britain's action in mining the territorial waters of Norway.

Sweden May Be Drawn In
At the moment that Denmark, faced with insuperable odds, agreed to German "protection" in the same manner that Bohemia and Moravia agreed to it a little over a year ago, Sweden faced the likelihood of being drawn into the rapidly spreading theatre of hostilities.

The Swedish Riksdag (parliament) was summoned to meet in secret and extraordinary session tonight to draft measures of resistance in the event that German aggression spreads to Swedish territory. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that before many hours have passed all the nations of Scandinavia—neutral and almost disarmed for a century and a half—would be involved in war.

While Soviet Russia, through its embassy in London, professed a hands off attitude in the spread-

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 9.—France promised today to aid Norway against Germany with all means at the French government's disposal. Assurances to this effect was given formally to the Norwegian minister to Paris in accordance with a joint Anglo-French decision to go to the aid of Norway following a Norwegian plea for help.

Premier Paul Reynaud personally gave the assurance to the Norwegian envoy.

War Committee Meets
Meanwhile, President Albert Lebrun presided at a meeting of the French war committee held just before the decision was announced. It was expected that Reynaud, meanwhile, would request a postponement of the senate's scheduled debate on war affairs.

Reynaud conferred with defense Minister Daladier and chiefs of the French armed forces went to the Elysee Palace for a meeting of the French council of ministers.

Later a communique was issued decreeing stabilization of prices for a three-month period and instituting the death penalty for "acts of demoralization" against the army or nation and increasing penalties for spreading communist propaganda.

STORE UP IRON for YOUR BLOOD

Get Vitamin B₁ for your Nerves
When the body overdoes three vital elements, a rich supply can get you in your cheeks and help you feel like a new person WITHOUT ALCOHOL OR HABIT-FORMING DRUGS.

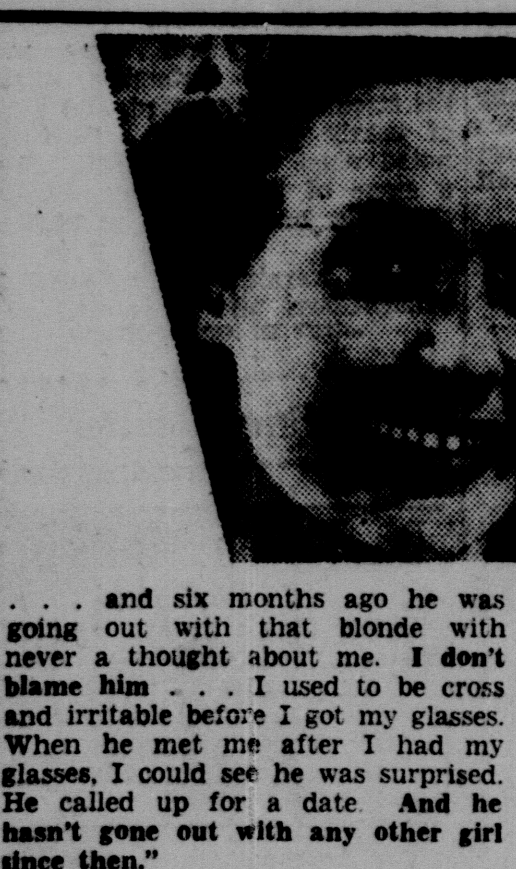

When your system is low in iron and Vitamin B₁, many vital organs slow down—you often look pale, lose your appetite, get tired easily, sleep poorly, and feel nervous and placed out. Iron helps make red blood, and red blood is vital for healthy muscles, healthy skin, healthy glands and healthy organs. Iron-poor blood may cause low vitality, heart palpitations, shortness of breath, swollen ankles and frequent periods of ill health.

You need Vitamin B₁ and if you don't have enough Vitamin B₁ you may get a painful neuritis, stomach upset, constipation, weak appetite, mental depression, restless sleep.

In these conditions, take ENRICH, the thrilling new tonic that tastes like juice of wild berries and gives you more iron every day than 6 lbs. of spinach or 6 lbs. of raisins; more Vitamin B₁ daily than 14 lbs. of baker's yeast. Your pen comes back with a bounce when you restore missing iron and Vitamin B₁ and you eat, stop worrying, and sleep better. Right in this neighborhood, many men, women and children feel better and happier lives, through the help of ENRICH. Don't wait. ENRICH costs only a few cents a day. Money refunded unless ENRICH improves your state of well-being.

GERMANY BLAMES ACTION OF ALLIES AS INVASION CAUSE

today when reports of which all were aware in Berlin since Saturday, were permitted to pass through to the rest of the world.

Dutch and Belgian circles in the German capital were assured they had nothing to worry about in connection with the German military stroke.

Anticipating the next move of the Allies in the war's chess game, Chancellor Hitler and the German general staff quietly and systematically prepared for the Scandinavian expedition.

High government quarters, commenting on the new state of the war, said:

"The Allies lost the war of nerves when they invaded Norwegian territorial waters and gave us a blank check to use every means to win."

"We would have been fools not to have taken the opportunity so freely offered. In a few days the Allies themselves would have been there to put the pistol to our head."

Announcement Made

After an all night watch, the expected summons came to foreign correspondents to attend a special press conference in the foreign office, at which the coup was described.

In several official statements the German government formally charged that the British and French had opened warfare at sea "against the neutral world," and "forced Germany to move into Norway and Denmark in order to protect" the northern countries against Allied aggression.

Although Norway has declared a technical state of war against Germany, it was emphasized in Berlin the German forces are making every effort to respect the domestic rights and privileges of both northern countries.

Sporadic fighting was understood to have been encountered by the Germans in marching on Norway.

On the other hand, the German government officially announced the invasion of Denmark was carried out without incident with Copenhagen quietly accepting the situation.

Danish authorities assured the Germans of the fullest and most loyal cooperation.

The Copenhagen radio, traffic and newspapers were functioning normally.

Occupation of Jutland was completed. German troops moved on to Aalborg, Danish city in the north.

It was believed the occupation of Denmark will be ended before nightfall.

In Berlin the German army move was taken with complete outer calm.

ing conflict, the Allies shrouded in utmost secrecy the nature and scope of its aid to Norway.

Report German Ships Sunk

An official statement by the British government, however, charged that Hitler's newest war was begun before British warships began mining and patrolling Norwegian waters, which was taken as an indication that Britain had made full preparations to counter-act the new aggression and presumably had put them into effect.

Meanwhile, the actual state of German-Norwegian hostilities was clouded in mystery. Disrupted telephone, telegraph and cable facilities made it almost impossible to gauge the exact amount of resistance offered by the Norwegians, but one report received in Stockholm stated that an undisclosed number of German warships were sunk in an attempted invasion of Narvik.

Occupied Oslo

Stockholm, April 9.—The war-hardened armies of Nazi Germany swarmed over Denmark and into Norway today, occupying the Norwegian capital of Oslo after brief resistance.

Occupational troops landed at Moss, at the southern end of Oslofjord and marched on the capital after overcoming resistance by Norwegian warships and coastal batteries.

Norwegian troops were reported still holding out at other key points, however, and offering spirited resistance to the invaders.

Barricade Roads

The German troops immediately barricaded all roads leading out of the capital, effectively preventing mass evacuation of Oslo. Early reports of an aerial bombardment of the city were not borne out although the German air force was active throughout Norway during the day.

Direct dispatches from the capital reported one violent explosion and shell splinters dropped in the streets.

Meanwhile, capitulation of Denmark to the Nazi military machine became complete with arrival of numerous Danish troops and the Warship Preja at Helsingborg, Sweden, for internment.

Blow At Lunch Basket

Berlin, April 9.—Officially described as a "staggering blow to Britain's lunch-basket," Nazi Germany today forcibly established a protectorate over the Kingdom of Denmark and landed troops in Norway in reprisal for Allied "abolition" of Scandinavian neutrality.

With capitulation of Norway to the German military machine regarded in Berlin as a foregone conclusion, official circles predicted that Britain's essential dairy supplies from the northern states soon would be cut off completely.

Together with this was a warning to Turkey to play ball with Nazi Germany lest it suffers a fate similar to that of Denmark and Norway.

BRITAIN'S NAVY GOES INTO ACTION TO AID NORWAY

on the side of Norway today in a desperate attempt to break Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's stranglehold on Scandinavia.

In response to an urgent appeal from the Norwegian government, Great Britain joined forces with Norway against Germany's latest aggression and "powerful units" of the British fleet are now at sea, presumably engaged in a major attempt to dislodge the Nazis before they have become fully entrenched in their latest "protectorate."

Guarded announcement of Britain's retaliatory measures in the ever-spreading war was made to the house of commons by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

The prime minister confirmed that Denmark had capitulated to Germany without resistance. Declaring he had no news concerning the fate of King Christian and other members of the Danish royal family, Chamberlain declined to state whether any British aid to Denmark now was planned.

Large Force May Be Sent

Previously, however, official sources said that inasmuch as no appeal was received from Denmark, the question of British aid had not arisen.

With regard to Norway, Chamberlain was brief and emphatic. "We have intimated we will fight the war in full association with them," he said.

"Powerful units of the navy are sent. It would not be in the public interest to give details at this stage and of the operations in which they are now engaged."

The exact nature of Britain's aid was the subject of excited speculation. It was generally believed that a huge expeditionary force probably already is enroute to Norway, but official circles maintained tight-lipped silence. Absolute secrecy would be needed to make any such enterprise successful.

BRITISH AND FRENCH PROMISE NORWAY AID

British papers called for speedy action to aid the Norwegians. "This demand was led by the London Evening News, which called for "imminent, immediate allied action" to assist the attacked Scandinavian state.

"We cannot tolerate occupation of Norway's Atlantic seaboard by the enemy," the paper declared. "It urged immediate dispatch of an expeditionary force of 100,000 men."

"Eventually Aid Allies"

Other evening newspapers in London berated the German move but expressed the opinion it eventually would aid the allies, since it will tie up a large portion of Germany's military forces over a wide area.

Still more important, the papers said, it will relieve the allies of the necessity of "worrying over Scandinavian neutrality" and permit them to take aggressive measures.

British naval circles and competent Norwegian sources, meanwhile, were skeptical of reports that the Germans already have occupied Narvik and Trondheim in Norway.

They pointed out a strong allied fleet has been patrolling the area through which German transports would have to pass to reach those points.

The Norwegians admitted, however, that the German wand since Norway's pacifist policy, in force for many years, has extended even to her defenses.

Preparing for swift action to carry out the allied pledge to Norway, members of the British high command and imperial defense committee met for an urgent discussion shortly after the cabinet meeting.

French Ambassador Charles Corbin conferred at length with Foreign Minister Lord Halifax, after which they both met Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

CHARGE GERMAN ATTACK PRECEDED LAYING OF MINES

man transport ships and the bodies of Germans washed ashore from the transports "proves" that the Reich transports must have sailed at least one hour before Germany could have known about the Allied mine field action, the spokesman declared.

This information, he added, "effectively disposes" of any idea that the German invasion was a retaliatory move.

The spokesman further pointed out that the British communique, announcing the decision of the Allies to aid Norway against Germany, referred only to Norway because "it is impossible at the moment to state the exact position of Denmark."

But the "possibility of Allied action regarding Denmark," is not necessarily excluded, the spokesman stressed.

He said the question of aid for Denmark is one for the British cabinet to decide. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his ministers are now receiving, sifting and weighing fresh reports regarding the entire Scandinavian situation.

Reports Confused

The spokesman said, however, that these advices are still extremely confused, particularly as a result of interrupted communications.

A statement by the state department in Washington that the British minister at Oslo requested the American minister there to take care of British interests in the Norwegian capital was challenged by the spokesman as "highly improbable."

The Washington announcement, said the spokesman, probably resulted from a misunderstanding.

The British minister in Norway probably already has left Oslo for the Norwegian government which has transferred its headquarters to Hamar, the spokesman declared.

The Norwegian legation, meanwhile, confirmed reports that the port of Trondheim has fallen before the German invaders.

The city was captured after two German warships anchored in the harbor and landed troops in the city.

Troops Landed

The legation also confirmed that a German warship appeared off Bergen, bombarded the port and landed troops there and that they also occupied several southern Norwegian towns.

Christiansand, the legation said, was still being bombed by German warplanes, but was putting up a stiff resistance and still holding out.

As Europe's war rolled over Scandinavia, it appeared the hostilities threatened to involve Sweden as well.

Events occurred with lightning speed as Germany struck swiftly in retaliation against Anglo-French mining of Norwegian territorial waters.

In London the Norwegian legation confirmed an announcement by the state department in Washington that Norway was at war with Germany. The Norwegian legation added that "hostilities already have started."

day that the German invasion of Norway and Denmark was being extended to Sweden, but there was no confirmation. The Swedish legation in Paris has been cut off from communication with Stockholm since last night.

Dispatches direct from Stockholm received in New York today gave no indication that Germany was planning to land troops in Sweden, but all Sweden's defense forces were on the alert in view of the danger growing out of the German attack on Norway.

'30 DANCE CLUB ENDS SEASON AT CASTLETON

Winding up an enjoyable season of social activities, the '30 Dance club membership, composed of prominent local couples, gathered in the ballroom of The Castleton on Monday evening, and held the last dance of their series, with approximately thirty couples participating. Officers of the club include, David Bollard, president; secretary, Mrs. C. L. Davis; treasurer, Harry Dinsmore; advisors, C. H. Young, Fred Scheppele, Ed Miller, William Berkstresser and C. L. Davis. This group enjoys get-togethers of this nature once a month, at The Castleton, and in October the same schedule will again be resumed.

Mercer Bible Class

Members of the Mercer Bible class, Highland U. P. church, were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Weber, East Leasure avenue, Monday evening. The president, Clarence Ruthrauff, had charge of the meeting. An informal social period was enjoyed, refreshments being served by the hosts and associate hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boak and Hazel Grossman. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Baum. On Monday evening, May 13, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Neshannock boulevard, will entertain.

Shenango Chapter Choir

Members of the choir of Shenango Chapter, No. 333, Order of Eastern Star, gathered in the home of Miss Dorothy Young, 314 East Wallace avenue, Monday evening. Mrs. Edwin McBride was associate hostess. After a practice session, evening hours were spent informally and a tasty lunch was served by the hostesses.

UNIQUE "DERBY" HELD AT CRAWFORD OAKRIDGE

The "Daffodil Derby" at Crawford Oakridge, N. Y. A. Center sponsored by the local Quota club, entertained a capacity crowd Monday evening.

Miss Martha Bigley presided in the role of master of ceremonies at the race. This was expertly managed to keep the excited crowds under control as they milled around the race tracks. The "bookies" were busy and huge sums of "play money" were won and lost by those in attendance.

For those not interested in the races, there were miscellaneous games provided, with Dr. Rozella Popp in charge. For bridge enthusiasts, there were six tables of players competing for honors, this feature being in charge of Miss Marguerite Cordes, club president. Adding another intriguing note to the entertainment, typical "race track stands" were set up in the kitchen of Crawford Oakridge, where the guests were served refreshments, that too, were in keeping with the theme of the event.

The object of the party was to secure funds necessary for the renovating of the second floor rooms of the Center, and the guests were shown a project of the needed improvements by Mrs. Rose Simones, resident director and invited the group to a similar party on May 6, to see the work completed.

The girls residing at Crawford Oakridge, numbering 29, together with the supervisor and instructors, were also guests of the Quota club.

Bertha Girls

Mrs. Earl Reeves received members of the Bertha Girls of the First Methodist church, Monday evening at her home on Garfield avenue.

A play comparing the life of the people of India in the early days, with the present time, was presented by a group. A delicious repast was served by the hostess, with Mrs. Fred Alexander and Mrs. Edgar Ellis, assisting. The next meeting will be on May 13.

SIGMA DELTA CHI PLANS "MOTHERS TEA"

Further plans for their Mothers' Day tea to be held Sunday, May 5, were made when Sigma Delta Chi members gathered in the home of Miss Doris Keener, Hillcrest avenue, Monday evening. The tea will be at the home of the club's advisor, Mrs. Travis B. French, East Wallace avenue.

Plans were also discussed for a dance to be held June 21 at the New Castle Field club. At the close, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Robert French.

Next meeting will be Monday evening, April 22 in the home of Sallie Wilson, Park avenue.

MARCELYN BURKHOLDER HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Honoring her daughter, Marcelyn, Mrs. Clyde Burkholder entertained a group of sixteen of her little playmates Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4:30 o'clock in their home on Court street, as a medium of celebrating her seventh birthday anniversary.

The group romped in the play room, with toys of every description being put into use, as well as many later taking part in the program of games and stunts. At a suitable hour, Mrs. Burkholder with her mother, Mrs. John Knox, served a tasty birthday lunch. Pastel tints predominated in the appointments. In conclusion, Marcelyn was presented with a collection of lovely personal gifts.

Those from out of town who shared, were Gene and George King, of Ellwood City, and Mrs. Leonra Staff of Wampum.

WOMEN OF CHURCH PLAN TUREN DINNER

Members of the Women's Guild of the First Christian church will hold a tureen luncheon, Friday at 12:30 o'clock, in the church dining rooms.

All women of the church plan to join for this luncheon-meeting.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Dorothy Latina, bride-elect of George Condas, was honored Monday evening at a shower given in Orr's hall by her mother, Mrs. Anthony Latina, 811 North Locust street. Her sister, Jeanette, was associate hostess.

About 60 attended the affair and dancing and games provided the chief pastimes. Tasty refreshments were served by the hostesses, aided by Miss Latina and Lottie Verlot. The honoree was presented with an array of lovely gifts.

Marian Foster Smith Speaker Before Woman's Club Monday

Typically spring-like were both the weather and the program at the Woman's club Monday afternoon, when Marian Foster Smith, of Saxonburg, noted conservationist spoke.

Contrary to custom, the meeting was held downtown in the First Presbyterian church. The attendance was good, in spite of the drearying downpour about meeting time. Club guests were members of the Garden and Quotarian clubs and high school students.

Special music was contributed by Mrs. L. Paul Friend, contralto soloist, her number "April Weather" by James Rogers, being decidedly appropriate, and well received. Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen was her able accompanist. Hostesses were Mrs. C. Lee Mellinger, Mrs. H. O. Sturdevant, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Conservation and Garden department, assisted by Mrs. Andrew Dodds.

Mrs. Smith topic dealt with "Wildflowers, Humans and Legends." For over an hour, she held the close attention of her audience by an instructive, humorous and entertaining talk. Through vivid word pictures, she carried her listeners into the woods and gardens which she promises, will burst forth in all their springtime glory within the next couple weeks.

On an outdoor ramble the day before, she had gathered the first croci, wild strawberry blossoms and feverfew, and saw many buds of the trailing arbutus.

As this was Mrs. Smith's second appearance before the club, she was warmly greeted as a friend who will be welcomed back again and again.

Her lecture schedule is a busy one, dating ahead to 1941. In August of this year she will address the Bird and Tree club of Chautauque, N. Y., of which Mrs. Thomas Edison Hughes is president. Also for the second time she has been asked to serve on the New York World Fair committee for 1940, and has been made a member of the lecture and participation committee under Mrs. Oswald B. Lord of New York.

Besides being a lecturer of note, Marian Foster Smith is a writer and active clubwoman. She is secretary of the Saxonburg School Board, secretary of the newly organized Saxonburg Chamber of Commerce, and does hosts of other things. Still she finds time to see and appreciate the beauties of nature and bring inspirational messages to the modern woman. She was introduced by Mrs. William A. Margraf.

Considerable business was transacted yesterday, under the direction of the president, Mrs. A. B. Foster. A splendid report was given by Mrs. John E. Elliott concerning the recent ways and means project (Rabbi Freehof's book reviews), proceeds from which have been voted to several worthy civic causes.

Jameson Memorial hospital endowment fund will receive $150; Metropolitan Concert Guild $10 (for Junior Student tickets); Elm Street Y. W. C. A. $15; Lawrence County Federation $20, and other smaller donations.

Mrs. John E. Elliott, president-elect, was named delegate to the state federation convention in Harrisburg May 14, 15, 16. As these dates conflict somewhat with the final scheduled meeting of the Woman's club, the date of the latter was postponed to May 20, from May 13.

Voting delegates from the club to County Federation meeting on Thursday at the Castleton Hotel are: Mrs. A. B. Foster, president; Mrs. H. C. Dinsmore, Mrs. W. A. Margraf, Mrs. H. W. Lightner, Mrs. Raymond C. Horchler, Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, Mrs. J. B. Hurst, Mrs. J. E. Elliott, Mrs. Charles E. Allen. Women's club reservations for luncheon are being handled by Mrs. A. B. Foster, Mrs. H. C. Dinsmore, Mrs. R. C. Horchler.

Names of prospective members are to be handed to Mrs. C. M. England, chairman of membership committee, not later than Monday, April 16.

In addition to the several department meetings during April, there will be another general assembly in Highland U. P. church, on the 29th. Dr. C. Valentine Kirby of the department of public instruction, Harrisburg, Pa., will be the speaker.

CURRENT EVENTS '06 ELECTION ASSEMBLY

Members of the Current Events '06 club, were pleasantly received Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George E. McClelland on Pine street, for their annual election session.

Officers for 1940 include the following: President, Mrs. A. E. McKillop; first vice, Mrs. G. E. McClelland; second vice, Mrs. C. E. Martin; assistant secretary, Mrs. Walter Shaw; assistant secretary, Mrs. Clyde Sanders; treasurer, Mrs. E. A. Cook; assistant treasurer, Mrs. T. C. Armstrong.

Following an interesting discussion of current topics, the president, appointed Mrs. E. A. Cook and Mrs. A. E. McKillop as delegates for Current Events '06, to attend the Federation meeting to be held here this week.

On April 22, Mrs. Perry Brest will preside as hostess to the group, at the Y. W. C. A.

Model Club

Model club members were entertained Monday evening in the home of Miss Charline Bates, Beckford street. Sewing and informal diversions were enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served.

April 22, members will meet with Miss Weltha Johnston, Ray street.

FEDERATION JUNIORS ENJOY TOUR MONDAY

On Monday evening the Federation Juniors membership enjoyed an instructive tour of the local Bell Telephone Company, marking one of the special features of the month. Chris Clark conducted the group of twenty or more girls through the various departments of the company, and related in detail, the routines observed for carrying out telephone work efficiently, and many other facts.

C. D. OF A. MEMBERS IN MEETING MONDAY

Members of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court Teresa Irene, No. 231, met in the K. of C. home, North Jefferson street, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when plans were made for the banquet and the initiation of new members, to be held on May 5, at The Castleton. Announcement was made that the C. D. of A. will go to communion in a body on May 5. Reports were heard, and the dance program chairman, Miss Rose Green, reported favorably on the C. D. of A. spring dance, held recently.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Della K. Crawford, district deputy of Midland, who spoke on "Cooperation, Charity and Unity," a subject well received by all. A rehearsal was held by the officers for the initiation services.

Announcement has been made for the election of new officers of the C. D. of A. to be on May 13, instead of as previously announced. April 22, is the date for the next session at the K. of C. home.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET AT HARBOR

Home of Buddy and Mary Alice Byers, at the Harbor, will be the place for a meeting of the Harbor Junior Garden club, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood will be a special guest speaker. Miss Ruth Cox will talk on the subject, "Wildflowers."

Auxiliary Event

Associates of the Unione Calabro Auxiliary, their friends and families gathered in the club rooms, Division street, on April 6, where they enjoyed a social event, in the form of a sausage fry.

Rev. Fr. Joseph L. Abbate, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church was a special guest. Dancing was the chief diversion, with other informal pastimes being enjoyed.

Mrs. James Fuleno was chairlady of the event, and she was assisted by the following committees: Kitchen, Mrs. Lucretia Fuleno, chairlady; Mrs. Mary Angelo, Mrs. Mary Lombardo, Mrs. Teresa Lombardo, Mrs. Antoinette Parko, Mrs. Frank Gillet, Mrs. Elizabeth Melito, Mrs. Elizabeth Cubellis, and Mrs. Concetta Tommelio; table, Mrs. Florence Cubellis and Mrs. Anna Rumanio, chairladies; Angelina Lombardo, Florence Greco, Angelina Melitrot, Dora Greco, Mrs. Josephine Fuleno and Mrs. Carrie Clause.

April 11, is the date of the next meeting of the Auxiliary.

T. O. T. Club

Miss Goldie Householder of Neshannock avenue will entertain members of the T. O. T. club on Thursday, April 18. The group met on a recent evening at the home of Collette Preisel, Etna St.

Card playing was in session, high score prizes going to Goldie Householder and Edith Campbell. Mrs. Rose Santee captured the door trophy.

At an appropriate hour, the hosts served a delicious lunch assisted by Kathleen Blake. Special guests included Mrs. Anna Blake, Mary Elizabeth Swaggett and DeJores Ritchie. Each received a lovely hostess' gift.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDISH ADULTS CAUSE LAUGHS

While visiting among your relatives or attending family reunions and family funerals, have you observed the childish expressions of jealousy by a father or mother of a brother's or sister's children? Have you noticed the unfavorable comparisons made, the obvious jealousies and the consequent suffering back of it all?

The following letter, a most interesting human document, is to the point.

"Dear Dr. Myers—I read your column daily and I have a problem that I've gone over and over and I still don't know what to do.

"In my husband's family there are two grandsons. My husband's sister's boy is eight months; my boy, four months. My husband's folks were tickled to death that his sister's child was a boy. Of course, they wanted ours to be a girl, and teased and tormented us until he was born. To be sure they were disappointed and showed it with not too much politeness. The first grandson and his parents have lived with her folks.

"It is natural, I suppose, for them to think Billy is better, cuter, etc., than Buddy (our boy). They have bought Billy clothes while his father was too lazy to work and provide for him. Billy sat up when he was six months old, had teeth then, and already he is beginning to walk. Why not? There are seven of them to teach him. My husband is gone most of the time and I have my work in the house, garden and yard to care for. My husband's brother is 19. He has held Billy and played with him ever since he was six months old. But so far he has never held or touched Buddy.

"The rest act almost as bad, especially when Billy is around. Of course, Buddy is not old enough to realize it now, but he soon will be and it will break his little heart. . . . My mother thinks it's awful because Buddy does not grow as fast or get as cute as Billy. . . ."

Might Be Funny

In answering this young mother I said, in part:

"While I know just how you feel, I think you are too intelligent and grown-up to worry over the matter as you do. Really, if you could look at the whole situation as an impartial observer, it might strike you as awfully funny.

"I hope you make up your mind not to class yourself with all the other relatives who act so very childish. Refuse to think of their attitude or to talk about it. When you hear the relatives indulging in this silliness, keep coldly silent. If you can't calmly endure them, avoid them as much as possible. You need not worry about your child's having to suffer later if you yourself can rise above this childish prattle now."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AN ETERNAL STRUGGLE

The struggle for liberty is never-ending. Battles in that illustrious cause have an unfortunate habit of never staying won. Freedom of conscience, press, religion, are always subject to attack. That admonition, "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," is really a statement of fact.

Roger Williams, America's pioneer of religious liberty, was tried by the courts of Massachusetts in 1635 and banished from the colony. He had been found guilty of supporting the heretical view that the civil power of a state should have no jurisdiction over the conscience of men.

"How far we have progressed since that day!" we all say. And in many ways we have. Yet not as far as we like to believe. A few days ago, more than three centuries after Massachusetts courts sent Roger Williams into exile for defending freedom of conscience, a Massachusetts school board suspended a grade school teacher because, as a member of "Jehovah's Witnesses," her religious convictions would not permit her to salute the flag.

This ruling has raised the issue not only of freedom but of good citizenship and patriotism. If a salute to the flag is to become a decisive test of devotion to the United States what of those like the Communists and Nazis who are second to none in paying allegiance and ready to serve to the flag and to the country for which it stands? We all know genuine patriotism calls for more than observance of its forms, which anyone can do. It calls for law-abiding citizenship, active participation and interest in government, local and national, for conscientious, faithful use of the right to vote—all these activities mark the good citizen and true patriot. Mere lip-service is no proof. The enemies of democracy always observe the formalities with scrupulous care.

Roger Williams opened America's fight for religious freedom. Since the battle is not won, it is our task to carry it forward resolutely.

But I see many parents who, when their children approach them to discuss their proffered dates and invitations, shoo them away with an "Oh, I'm too busy. Don't bother me about such silly trifles."

Parents who thus suppress that camaraderie that should be the strongest link holding them to their children are laying the foundation for a lonely, unloved middle life and old age.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markle: I have recently moved to a small suburban community. Some of my neighbors have called on me. How soon should I return their calls?—Lulu.

Answer: You should, within 10 days or two weeks, return the calls of all those who have been thoughtful enough to make such a friendly gesture.

Of course, if you find that you have nothing in common with any of these callers, you need not encourage their friendship by paying them further visits. But, by all means, return their first calls, no matter what your feelings may be. Such kindness even in this era of indifference to social customs surely deserves acknowledgment and appreciation. Should you neglect this courtesy, you would brand yourself as rude and unkind.

John L. Lewis Scares Politicians
Take Third Party Threat Seriously
Editorial View Is Against Success

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 9.—John L. Lewis' third party threat is taken more seriously by practical politicians in Washington than by the press generally. The editorial view seems, in the main, to be that a third party wouldn't stand a chance of electing an independent presidential candidate. Historical precedent is cited to the effect that none ever has succeeded in doing so. Politicians don't dispute that this is true. What they do say is that a third ticket might so disturb the balance between the two major parties' respective votes as to change the result as between those two.

To be sure, John Lewis didn't specifically say that he'd launch a third party. What he did say was that he didn't "expect anything" from the Republicans. And he added that, if the Democrats' platform and nominee don't suit him either, he'll call a convention of his own.

It seemed hard to interpret such a promise as meaning other than a third ticket's nomination—or how could his independent convention have any significance at all? It might not imply the creation of an out-and-out new party as a permanent one. It might be only an attempt to assimilate certain groups of both Republicans and Democrats into his new alignment, leaving the remaining Republicans and Democrats, each "out on a limb." And then, presumably, HIS bunch presently would become the DEMOCRATIC party, the others amalgamating as Republicans.

Free Silver Days
Back in free silver days a majority of the Democrats nominated William J. Bryan, and a minority of them nominated Palmer and Buckner. But that wasn't a third party movement. Palmer and Buckner were BOLLING Democrats. They lost. They didn't represent a third party, however. The Republicans beat 'em on their joint Democratic merits.

I suppose it was the same in the much earlier greenback era, which is too far in the past for me to recall.

But when ex-President Theodore Roosevelt ran, in the race between William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson, "Teddy" ran as a sure-enough third party. He, a Bull Moose. Well, he lost, but it was widely believed that Taft wouldn't have lost if "Teddy" hadn't been in the contest.

Office Grouch: "The only way to have harmony with some people is to lie down and let them walk over you."

"So you'll only give me $1 for this joke about President Roosevelt?" asked the joke writer. "Why you paid $3 when it was about President Hoover."

My idea of the famous ground floor that promotes let you in on is that it's the floor that leads to the cellar.

NAMING HER
His vacation was up, but instead of returning he telephoned the boss. "I'm at Portland and won't be able to start back for a couple of days," he explained.

"Want a few more days of grace, eh?" asked the boss affably. "No, sir," was the quick reply. "It's Ethel."

If she fattens after marriage, it isn't proof of happiness. Maybe she just relaxes and eats her fill because fat doesn't matter now that she's got him.

Americanism: Despairing illiterate sections whose people can't read and understand discussions of great issues; skipping all that dry stuff.

Still, a neurotic isn't selfish about it. He sees something fatal in every little ailment the family has, too.

That is to say, here was a third party ticket that it's likely decided the issue between the other two. So it appears that a third party CAN be decisive, not in its own favor, but between the other two.

Triangular Contests
We had another triangular contest the year that the elder Senator La Follette ran, as a Progressive, against President Coolidge and John W. Davis.

It did look then as if the two major parties needed to be realigned, and as if Senator La Follette might be able to do it. It didn't work. La Follette carried just one state—his own, Wisconsin.

So when Politicians are asked what they think of a third party movement, their verdict unanimously is—"Phooey!"

Yet this isn't equivalent to saying, "A third party movement can't raise hades." They have to remember the "Teddy" Roosevelt-Taft-Wilson campaign.

Politicians agree, in short, that there OUGHT to be a party realignment.

They don't agree as to how. They don't understand HOW. They're uncertain as to your household help. John L. Lewis' hope is along this line.

It gets down to your kitchen mechanic. Oh! It's basic. —BUT IN NEW CASTLE—

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

There was noted recently in this corner the current rediscovery of America in literature, art, music and the world of ideas. Much of our past is getting into circulation again with this new interest in Americana and it isn't being wadded down from ivory towers. Al Smith's determined baritone, if that's what it is—isn't sure—is evoking the grand guests of the Miner's theatre days, around the turn of the century.

Random tributes of our unique barber-shop ballad tradition are being sluiced into a noble and ululant concourse of close harmony for the World's Fair, and I know several gents with bald spots and a twinge of arthritis now and then who can hardly wait for the singing to start.

So much for the memory of the elder generation. But that isn't half the story. Along the Palisades and up in the Catskills, there have been wailings of song like the far-off rumblings of Rip Van Winkle's elfin bowling alley, always elusive, almost forgotten, but now they have been caught and trapped on phonograph records, to the enrichment of our musical past and a truer sense of our national heritage.

John and Lucy Allison of 343 Hillcrest road, Englewood, N. J., are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boone who have journeyed far into the past to retrieve these treasures of early American life. As a boy at the foot of the Palisades near Englewood, Mr. Allison heard snatches of folk ballads and Hudson river jingles from sloop-captains and rock-quarry hands. From a grand-uncle of Dutch extraction, living at Tappan, N. Y., he learned Dutch nonsense rhymes, and the song, "Johnny Has Gone for a Soldier," which he told him was from Revolutionary days.

For 20 years he has been tracing the old ballads, in an area rich in the tradition of the Revolutionary war, finding here and there an older who remembered a wisp of song from his grandfather, or great-grandfather who fought in the war. Gradually their album grew. The words were easier to come by than the melodies. Searching deeply in the Edinburgh Musical Miscellany, a compilation of popular and patriotic songs of the 18th century, and other such records, they were able to score most of the songs correctly.

They have been giving recitals in the northern New Jersey and the Metropolitan area and now "Ballads of the American Revolution and the War of 1812" is being recorded as volume 1 of a folk song series.

They took Major Andre across the river from Dobb's Ferry, through Sweden's Landing to Tappan, and in the old 1776 Tavern you will find his prison cell, just as it always was, and the table on which Washington signed the death warrant, the old church where he was tried and, a brass shot away, the house where Washington stayed—two miles west as you turn off 9W at Palisades, 12 miles north of the George Washington bridge, if you're driving up that way.

Playing around there in his youth,

John Allison began back-trailing old tales and old songs. He and Mrs. Allison pieced together the ballad of "The Capture of Major Andre". It is all but interminable and they had to brief it for the records. Here are the opening verses: Come all you brave Americans and unto me give ear. I'll sing you now a ditty which will your spirits cheer.

Concerning a young gentleman who went to Tarrytown, Where he met a British officer, a man of high renown.

Then up steps this young hero, John Paulding was his name. Oh, tell us where you're going, sir, and also whence you came.

I bear the British flag, sir, up answered bold Andre. I have a pass that takes me through, I have no time to stay.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—C. C. G. Director James J. McEntee praised the record of his charges:

"Good health and willingness to put in a hard day's work are qualities which are as important for a job as for citizenship."

NEW YORK—Brazilian foreign minister Dr. Oswaldo Aranha sees the New York World's fair epitomizing man's hopes for peace:

"It is through cooperation and persuasion and not through violence that mankind shall realize its great destiny."

FLINT, Mich.—John L. Lewis delivers another warning against involving America in war:

"Any politician, statesman or national figure who bases his hopes on expectations that the American people are going to send their sons to be butchered in another foreign war is going to show himself as nothing more nor less than a complete fool."

NEW YORK—H. W. Prentiss, Jr., National Association of Manufacturers prexy, urges appointment of a business man to the S. E. C.:

"A sound understanding of industry's problems would mitigate unnecessary restrictive regulations on business."

Bible Thought For Today

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God.—Eph. 2:8.

TWO AVIATION VICTORIES IN ONE

PROFOUND military significance in the first all-blind flight in the history of aviation, made by a United States Army Flying Fortress from Mitchel Field, New York, to Langley Field, Virginia, in two hours and two minutes, cannot be missed.

Completely inclosed by a canvas screen, Major Carl B. McDaniel piloted the huge four-motored bomber from start to finish by delicate instruments on his cockpit panel and the aid of radio beams, even bringing the 22½-ton plane to the ground and to a stop "sight unseen."

It was nice going from any viewpoint, but more so in its meaning for the advancement of peaceful commerce in the air through the inevitable hazards of darkness, blizzards, fog and cloud.

This grim monster's sightless journey demonstrates the increasing perfection of artificial means of overcoming such dangers and handicaps. That is of greater moment than the collateral proof of the increasing deadliness of airplanes as agencies of destruction.

HOT SUMMER MAY BE IN STORE

We have suffered through a cold winter, one of the coldest on record, the weather statisticians tell us. We are comforted by the forecasters' prediction that the long siege is at an end, and there will be little or no more cold weather.

The coming of spring, which finally arrived the last week in March to banish King Winter, who reigned without interruption for almost four months, is heartily welcomed by all.

The weather statisticians, however, warn that we may pay for the subnormal weather with hotter than usual temperatures during the coming summer. L. H. Copeland, the U. S. Department of Agriculture weather observer, points out that in the first three months of 1940 the cumulative temperatures were 625.3 degrees below normal. If the law of averages holds for the year, as it probably will, this efficiency will be made up by warmer than normal temperatures in the remaining months of the year.

And so after the coldest winter since 1917, according to Mr. Copeland's figures, we may look forward with perhaps not too much pleasure to a summer that may be the warmest in some years.

YEAR IS MAKING A BAD START

That kind of destroyers, fire, is on the rampage again. During the first two months of this year, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, direct fire loss was about $14,000,000 higher than in the same period in 1939. If that ratio should obtain for the balance of the year, the increase would be close to $90,000,000, bringing the total loss to around the $400,000,000 level. And remember—the indirect loss caused by fire is estimated at three or more times the direct loss. Lost jobs, orders, business of all kinds, are just as serious as burned buildings. Most serious by far is fire's toll of human life, running to 10,000 in an average year.

What causes fires? A few are caused by incendiaries, though their toll has been much reduced in late years due to unremitting efforts of prosecuting authorities and fire prevention groups. A few are unavoidable. And the balance, which includes the great majority of all fires, are caused by the average man—people like yourself. They are the tragic fruits of human carelessness, human ignorance, human indifference. They represent sheer and inexcusable waste of lives and resources.

Fire prevention isn't the other fellow's job. It's your job—your neighbor's job—everybody's job. The seeds of fire may exist in your home and your place of business, waiting for the spark that will spell disaster. We can stamp out fire—but we can do that only if all of us cooperate in fighting it.

State School Band Contests, April 26-27

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—The 11th annual state contests for Pennsylvania high school bands will be held at Harrisburg April 26 and 27 as a part of the program of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music league which will present 55 state final competitions in music and speech activities in the capital city.

The band contests will be held in the spacious auditorium of the John Harris high school. Class A bands from high schools with more than 750 students will play Wagner's "Overture to Rienzi" as the test piece. First honors in 1939 were received by Lower Merion Township high school band at Ardmore.

Class B bands from high schools with from 250 to 750 students will play Leiden's "Autumn Overture" as the test piece. Last year's state winner in class B was Montrose high school.

The class C bands from high schools with fewer than 250 students will play the test piece, selection of melodies from Grieg. The 1939 state winner was New Oxford high school.

Each band at the state contest is required to place first in the county contests of the league and again first in the inter-county or district contests. The latter will be held April 12 and 13 at College, Oil City, California, State College, Lebanon, Bloomsburg, Northampton and Ambler.

The Harrisburg state band contests will be judged by Dr. Ernest Williams of Brooklyn, N. Y.; John H. Jaquish, director of music in the music faculty of the Indiana State Atlantic City public schools, and Dr. Irving Cheyette, head of the Teachers college.

Get Your Tickets For Van Meeting

Tickets Are Free But Admission Must Be Had Through Them On April 16

Better get your tickets now for the meeting in the Cathedral when Billy B. Van comes to New Castle. Not that the tickets cost anything, then don't, but the committee in charge believes it better to be done soon. The tickets are free, they are placed around the city with merchants and organizations and they are yours for the asking.

Billy B. Van is worth seeing and hearing any time. Time was when folks stood in line to get tickets at a premium price to see him for he was one of the most popular comedians of the entire country. The name Billy B. Van on a show's billing meant laughs.

Some years ago Mr. Van turned to business, organized his own company and proceeded to be as much a success in business as he had been on the stage. Then the New England Council called for him. They needed some business man who was practical but who could put over their problems to the nation in such a way that it would help the New England states. Billy B. Van was the answer.

Today it is difficult to get him for a speaking engagement, but the trick has been done for New Castle and he comes as a sort of follow-up of the Pioneer Week activities.

He will be about the only speaker on the program save the address of welcome by Mayor Charles B. Mayne. The senior high school orchestra will play and the A-Cappella choir will sing. It promises to be a big evening. Better get your tickets now. That's where we came in.

MARY JAMES MEETING

The first meeting of the new year for the Mary James Missionary Society was held on Tuesday evening April 2, at the church. Lois Shellenberger led the devotional service. The topics were covered by Lillian Edie, Roberta Shellenberger, Helen Martin, and Mae Hall. It was voted to contribute a total of $40 to the redecorating fund of the church. Reports of the various secretaries and committee chairmen were given. A social time followed the meeting.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

Rev. Robert E. Douglass conducted the devotionals which opened the meeting of the United Presbyterian church congregation on Wednesday evening, April 3 in the church. Two elders were to be elected. The result was the reelection of Neal Edie and Carl Richael for six years. The rest of the business was conducted by the board of trustees with E. C. Bowden and Clare Albarn in charge. The following officers were elected: trustee—W. R. McKee, auditor, Clyde Shellenberger, treasurer, Dr. James Burton, pianist, Mrs. Norman McCaslin and chorister, Glenn Patterson. Very encouraging reports were given by the various organizations of the church. The redecorating problem was discussed but no definite decision was reached as to the type of decoration wanted. Lunch was served with the two missionary societies in charge.

ANNUAL PITTSBURGH TRIP

The Biology class of the local high school under the direction of the instructor, Willard Bowden, spent Saturday sight-seeing in Pittsburgh. There were fifty in the group.

P. T. A. MEETING

The April P. T. A. meeting was different in its program of a varied nature. During the business session the annual election of officers took place. The officers as elected are: president, Mrs. Arthur McCreary, vice president, Willard Bowden, secretary, Mrs. Harry Kelly, and treasurer, Mrs. John Robinson. It was decided to enter a display at the New Castle Fair.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Omar Fink, program chairman, who presented Mrs. Jack Murphy, with her Girl and Boy Rhythm band from Walmo. They were well received. Next Miss Margaret Bodenstein, executive director of the Lawrence County Red Cross was introduced. She told of the work done in our county. She had two reels of movies showing the work and she explained them as they were shown.

The next meeting of the East Brook P. T. A. will be in the form of a party on Tuesday evening, April 30.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY MEETING

The members of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church will meet on Wednesday morning, April 10, at 10:00 o'clock for an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. W. W. Carrick.

HELPING HANDS CLASS PARTY

The Misses Mary and Mildred Patterson will entertain the members of the Helping Hands Class in their home on Tuesday evening for their April party.

EAST BROOK GRANGE MEETING

"Forestry" will be the theme for the Lecture hour of the East Brook grange when they meet in their hall on Thursday evening, April 11. The program is as follows:

Opening song, The Dear Old Farm Roll call, The Use of Trees; music, Glenn and Ernest Patterson; talk, Forestry as a Profession, Professor Ralph Watson; discussion, Where and How to Plant Trees, M. M. Ingham; contest, conducted by Willard Bowden; song, The River of Time.

HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION

At last—here's an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation with its headaches, mental dullness, fatigue and sallow skin.

Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel.

Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000—000 jars have been sold throughout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.

Four new Community Chest directors last night were welcomed into board circles when the group assembled for its April business discussion in the Y. W. C. A. President Alice Samuels was in charge.

Chosen to the board earlier, the newcomers included Assemblyman W. Sharp Fullerton, representing the county granges; J. Glen Berry, Red Cross; A. W. Mercer, City Rescue Mission; and Mrs. George Bolinger, Winodausis.

Mrs. Winifred Cooney, executive director of the Chest, told the board that last month's Chest proposal to establish a "social service center" here is meeting with the approval of the city's social and welfare organizations. The plan is to set up a "clearing house" at the Chest office, North Mercer street, to prevent welfare "doubling-up."

Chairman Paul G. Dingley of the permanent Chest publicity committee won board approval for a 1940 campaign letter writing contest to be sponsored in the fall for school children.

Mrs. Roy Long discussed Y. W. C. A. work and General Secretary R. L. Meermans told of current activities at the Y. M. C. A.

INCANDESCENT LIGHT'S INVENTION

Sir Humphry Davy, the physicist, was one of the earliest men to experiment with the production of electric light. In 1802 he demonstrated that electric current can heat carbon and strips of metal to incandescence and give light. In 1809 he developed his arc light. Experiments along this line continued until the invention in 1879 by Thomas A. Edison of the incandescent lamp. These principles are used in all the incandescent lamps made today.

Garden Forum Names Officers

Mrs. Harry O. Sturdevant Re-elected To Head County Organization

Eleven garden clubs in the county were represented at a successful meeting of the Lawrence County Garden forum, Monday evening, at the W. N. Aiken school building, Pearson street.

The nominating committee, including Mrs. Mae McConahy, Mrs. J. D. McClelland, Mrs. Agnes Howley, Mrs. A. T. Eckles and Earl Kyle, returned the following report which was accepted, and the new officers were installed:

President, Mrs. Harry Sturdevant; first vice president, Professor Charles Lindner; second vice president, Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Laura Roney; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Ferrier; treasurer, Mrs. John Robinson and press agent, Mrs. R. E. Gwilym.

Members-at-large who were elected follow: Mrs. Harold Barber, Mrs. William McCombs, Mrs. B. H. Kanenberg and W. A. Hoffmaster.

Professor Lindner discussed briefly the proposed arboretum in Gaston Park. The Forum voted full cooperation and power to Mr. Lindner and his committee, including Mrs. Walter Eckenrood, John Robinson and Owen P. Fox.

Highlight of the program was a talk by John Robinson, who spoke on "Mushroom Fungi". He displayed many original and attractive drawings to illustrate his talk. Mr. Robinson explained the different types of mushrooms, the ones that were good to eat, or non-poisonous type, and the ones not fit to eat.

A meeting of the newly formed executive committee was held and the standing committees will be announced soon.

The East Brook Garden club members served as hosts for the meeting, and served delicious refreshments. This club arranged an attractive table with a center of thin tapers, pussy willows and hazel nut blooms.

Central Church Annual Election

Congregation Of Central Presbyterian Church In Yearly Session Monday Night

Dinner at 6:30 preceded the congregational meeting held Monday evening in the Central Presbyterian church on the public square. The meeting was one of the largest ever held, increased interest being shown by the congregation in attendance and the work of the church.

The first part of the meeting was in charge of Dr. Robert Meade Patterson as moderator and George R. McClelland, as clerk. Reports of the various officers and societies, were given, showing a substantial balance in the church treasury. A large amount was expended last year for repairs and remodeling in the church and the manse.

Seven elders and two deacons, whose terms expired were re-elected as follows: elders, J. G. Leslie, U. L. Kelso, George Lyon, Charles Bright, W. W. Wallace, John Love and Mont Forney; deacons, Mrs. Jessie Camblin and Walter Leslie. Afterwards, the meeting was turned over to the board of trustees with L. A. Campbell president of the board and Mont Alley secretary, in charge. Three trustees, whose terms expired were re-elected J. N. McCandless, L. A. Campbell and L. W. McClung. The music committee, elected for the year, includes John F. Love, Miss Alison Leslie, James R. Robinson, Alfred T. Badler and Walter Wallace. Remarks by several members of the congregation closed the meeting.

COLOSTRUM
I have been asked to say something about a subject that is timely in view of the recent discussion here of the advantages of breast feeding of children over bottle feeding.

Colostrum is the subject, brought up by a woman writing from St. Louis. As anyone who has been following these columns knows, I am a strong advocate of breast feeding babies. Colostrum is one of the reasons.

When a baby is born, his system isn't quite ready yet for milk. So nature steps in and takes care of this little detail with her usual efficiency. For the first two or three days there is secreted from the mother's breast, not milk, but this liquid called colostrum.

This is a yellowish, watery liquid, thinner than milk, with a strong odor and a bitter taste. Doctors have studied it to a considerable extent, but we still aren't sure of its properties.

Although it is bitter, the babies don't seem to mind this because they have no sense of taste for the first six months. We do know that colostrum contains a substance called globulin. This is an important part of blood and we think today that this globulin is absorbed unchanged into the baby's blood stream. This in itself is an important thing for it means that the baby doesn't have to subject his system to the strain of manufacturing globulin. It is there, right ready for him in the breasts of his mother.

Now, ordinary milk doesn't contain this globulin and doctors who have been studying colostrum have come to believe that while milk is manufactured in the breasts, part of the colostrum comes directly from the blood stream of the mother. If this is so, colostrum probably has a very important effect upon a baby's early life.

We are certain today that colostrum contains antibodies, probably in the same globulin we have talked

Second Winner In Pioneer Contest

Miss Temoy McFate Awarded Second Prize In Essay On Pioneer Week

In the adjudication of the essays written by the students of the senior and junior high schools Miss Temoy McFate was awarded the second prize in the senior high division.

Her essay on "Present Day Pioneering in New Castle" follows:

First let us survey the field as a pioneer would find it in present day New Castle. New Castle has always been an industrial city. The very heart of the city has been industry: steel, tin, clay products, stone and all allied products. So the pioneer would see in New Castle a city already educated in these great endeavors. And what are the facilities for handling these industries? New Castle is situated on two rivers, the Neshannock and Shenango rivers. At the head waters of the Shenango we find the Pymatuning dam with plenty of reserve water necessary for any industry. New Castle is situated in a very good bituminous coal region and a land underlaid with limestone. Now let us look at the means of transportation of the raw materials and the finished products. The four leading trunk lines of the eastern United States railroad system have direct connections with New Castle: an overnight delivery can be made to New York or Chicago. As a pioneer surveys the field of New Castle, he finds a great many facilities already established.

What can a pioneer do in a city that has all these facilities? Can he say: "This is a well established city. I shall sit down and wait for business to come?" If he is a true pioneer, he will put forth every effort to establish a home not only for himself but for his posterity. He will see that not only his city is advertised, but that the facilities that his city possesses are equally advertised. He will find out where suitable and desirable factory sites can be obtained. He will see that the taxes on these sites will be little or nothing over a given number of years to give the new industry an opportunity to become firmly established. He will bear in mind that we are living in a changing world, a world where new industries, new processing and new products are appearing every day. He will investigate that great new field of coal tar products, and knowing that New Castle lies within those large bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania, will put forth every effort to have some of the factories, which will come into being, locate in New Castle. He will remember that a great many other towns and cities of these United States of America are trying to induce industries to locate with them and he will endeavor to make his town as attractive as possible. He will recall that it was the opportunities and attractiveness of this great land that brought the immigrants to our shores and he will know that he must use the same means to attract industries within the boundaries of his city.

A true pioneer in the city of New Castle has a great task to perform—as great a task as our forefathers had when they came to these virgin lands and cut the timber, grubbed out the stumps and stones and made the fields arable for their posterity, fields that today extend throughout the length and breadth of our land.

A true pioneer in the city of New Castle today has a wonderful opportunity, an opportunity that by council, planning, and sweat of his brow, will cause his children to say: "Well done you who have gone before. You have built a city beautiful."

Highway System In Pennsylvania Safest In Nation

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 9.—Pennsylvania's vast 40,000-mile highway system is the safest in the nation for both pedestrian and motorist,
Secretary of Revenue William J.
Hamilton disclosed today.
He pointed out, however, that several smaller, less populated states better Pennsylvania's record but have a smaller traffic volume.

Based on the findings of the National Safety Council for 1939, Hamilton's report revealed that 51,036 motorists were arrested during the year during which 3620 licenses were revoked and 18,267 suspended.

Hamilton attributed the state's high rating to the continued efforts of the bureau of highway safety, states motor police enforcement, safety campaigns, generous publicity by the state's newspapers, activities of motor organizations and "willingness on the part of the driving public to assume the responsibilities attached to the man behind the wheel."

EXPECT 125,000

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—Drawing on experience gained in entertaining five previous national political gatherings, staid old Philadelphia today is preparing a rip-roaring welcome for the thousands of delegates and other visitors who will descend on the Quaker City when the Republican nominating convention opens June 24th.

And if present plans are a criterion, the week or more the Republicans are in town will exceed in hilarity, noise-making and in elaborately-staged spectacles the six days the Democrats spent here
when re-nominated President Roosevelt in 1936.

The Democratic convention of '36 with its 100,000 visitors and expenditures of $10,000,000—reached a new high in testing Philadelphia hospitality, but wait, Philadelphians advise, until you see what happens this year.

Await Crowd of 125,000
Preparations are under way for handling at least 125,000 GOP supporters. 18,000 hotel rooms are being doled out as carefully as possible; the Philadelphia Traction Company is ready to ring up more than 100,000 in extra fares on trolleys, buses and subways, taxi companies are preparing for a harvest of restaurants, night club and theatre operators are looking for a golden avalanche. Hotel men and department store, and other merchants are rubbing their hands in glee.

All told the Republican conclave is expected to drop a cool $12,000,000 in local coffers, exceeding the "take" at the Democratic meeting four years ago by $2,000,000. About 50 per cent of the total is expected to be divided equally for hotel accommodations, and retail stores; 20 per cent will go for hotel and restaurant meals, 15 per cent for theaters and night clubs and the rest for miscellaneous expenses.

But all the convention preparations are not concerned with what Philadelphia will get from the visitors. Much of the planning revolves around a dizzy schedule of events calculated to tax the entertainment capacity of the most hardened convention-goer.

Mummers To Parade
Topping the list for sheer size and brilliance will be a repetition of Philadelphia's famed "Mummer's Parade," the fantastic assemblage of clowns, gorgeously dressed "kings" and pages and glitteringly-costumed musicians which annually cavorts up Broad street on New Year's Day.

The Mummers voluntarily paraded before a 500,000 throng at the Democratic party four years ago and are set to outdo their previous effort this time.

A water pageant on the Schuylkill river will rival the parade in imagery and color and each day will see its quota of dinners to visiting governors, mayors, senators, and other officials.
Independence Hall, Philadelphia's

historic "Cradle of Liberty" may be the scene of a formal celebration, but in any event will be open for the thousands who will take this opportunity to see its famed Liberty Bell and Declaration Room.
The Betsy Ross House, Old Christ Church and Valley Forge are three other historic spots which will draw convention sight-seers.

Women visitors will be entertained at programs being arranged by various feminine political and civic organizations. For those inclined to travel farther afield for their amusement, Philadelphia offers convenient transportation to Atlantic City and the host of other resorts along New Jersey's Atlantic coast.

Time May Be Lengthened Prospects that the convention may last well over a week because of the uncertainty of who will be named the G. O. P. presidential candidate has done its part in increasing the anticipation with which Philadelphia awaits the opening bang of the gavel next June. Convention hall, where the sessions will be held, is ready to be fitted with press tables, wire service teletypes, photographers' dark rooms.
Various newspapers, press associations, presidential candidates and committees have selected headquarters.

For their part, Republican officials are jubilant over Philadelphia's title of "lucky city" for presidential nominees. Of the five men chosen in Philadelphia to make the race for the presidency, four have been elected. The latter were General Zachary Taylor, nominated by the Whig party in 1848; President Ulysses
S. Grant, re-nominated for a second term by the Republicans in 1872; President William McKinley, re-nominated by the Republicans for the second term in 1900; and President Roosevelt.

John C. Fremont was nominated here in the first Republican convention in 1856, but lost to James Buchanan, Democrat and only Pennsylvanian to occupy the White House.

Y.W.C.A. Convention Plans Are Announced

Biennial Convention To Be At Atlantic City Week Of April 10-16

The Y. W. C. A. goes to Atlantic City for its national biennial convention, the week of April 10-16.
More than 2,000 delegates representing a cross-section of American life are expected.

Since one of the chief responsibilities of the convention is to work as a legislative body, considerable time will be given to the discussion of program and policies which will guide the Y. W. C. A. for the future. Studies on various phases of the association, which have been under way since the last convention, will be presented to delegates. These include a survey of Y. W. C. A. residences and their management; the work and responsibilities of general secretaries and the experimental work which has been carried on during the last two years throughout the country on the Standards Study. This has among its objectives the raising of standards in administrative matters and the development of a more democratic participation of members in the policy-making activities of the various associations.

Reflecting the democratic make-up of the Y. W. C. A. membership and emergency, the delegates will include women of all ages of widely varying economic backgrounds, work experience, political thinking and national cultures. There will be those of different races and religions and a good balance between youth and maturity, one of the significant characteristics of the organization.

The three major emphases on religion, democracy and the building of a world community, which have served the Y. W. C. A. as guide-posts during the past two years, will provide the basis for many of the subjects under discussion in Atlantic City. Significant group meetings will center on the farm woman and her part in a national and international woman's organization, various aspects of public affairs,
marriage and family relationship problems of youth and the health education and recreation program of the association.

Miss Marguerite White, general secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Yingling, president of the Junior Business Girls club, will represent the local "Y" at the convention.
Miss Yingling also attended the regional conference for business girls at Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., recently.

Early Architecture Is Theme Of Woman's Club April Meeting

Charles M. Stotz, Pittsburgh, Is Guest Speaker At Enjoyable Session

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—Completely enjoyable and informative was an illustrated lecture on early Western Pennsylvania architecture given to members of the Woman's club and guests at the April meeting last night in the assembly room of the city building by Charles M. Stotz, of Pittsburgh.

Some years ago, Mr. Stotz traveled 6,000 miles through the western part of the state compiling information on early architecture in a project sponsored by the Buhl Foundation. With lantern slides, he showed how the different type of dwellings showed the influence of the native land and section from which the early Pennsylvania residents migrated.

Preceding the address, Jack Hough played two lovely piano selections from Chopin and Mrs. Joseph Barson accompanied by Mrs. Marion Conway contributed two much enjoyed solos.

Mrs. Moss M. Lauderbaugh, president, conducted a brief meeting during which the revised by-laws were read.

Announcement was made of the federation meeting to be held on Thursday at the Castleton, New Castle.

The May meeting of the local club will feature flower display.

As the concluding feature, the home economics department served dainty refreshments.

Educational Program For Foreman's Club

Demonstration Of Laboratory Work And Motion Picture Are Features

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—A varied educational program featured the April meeting of the Foreman's club of the National Tube company held last evening in the form of a dinner session at the Trinity Lutheran church dining room. About 150 members and guests attended.

Herbert Habart, aided by Wayne Colmery gave an interesting demonstration of the steel process conducted in the laboratory. They showed that through an annealing process steel can be made uniform thus strengthening it. Of process making for fine grain steel, which is stronger than ordinary steel and another by quick cooling achieves the result of cleaning the steel from carbon aggregates. Special microscopes are used to determine the structure of steel and the quantity of dirt it contains.

The production of oil from the oil fields to the finished product was depicted in a motion picture provided by the Sun Oil company with Lowell Thomas as narrator.

John J. Finnessy, Lawrence county boy scout executive, was a special guest and spoke on the scout work being accomplished here. He complimented the recent bird house building contest and said that fifty orders had been secured for one type of box. He also said that the service corps was the best he had ever encountered in United States and told of the value of scouting to a community.

H. E. King, program chairman, presided with the club officers being praised for the splendid programs of the past months.

The result of the election of officers will be announced at the final meeting in May.

Store Employees Outing Planned

Merchants Agree On Plans For Picnic Event Sometime During July

ELLWOOD CITY, April 9.—The Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce unanimously agreed at their regular monthly meeting last night to sponsor a retail store employee outing some time during July. The affair will be arranged whereby the employees of the stores will have all forms of free entertainment such as swimming, dancing, baseball, contests and a picnic dinner.

It was also agreed that the merchants compile a mimeographed planned retail program and calendar of events.

A Ladies Promotional Day will be sponsored by the merchants some time the latter part of May. A special committee consisting of James Aughenbaugh, chairman, Paul Reynolds, Mike Edelman, and Nelson Runyan was appointed by the Merchants Division president, Robert Shearer, to confer with the Women's club and Business and Professional Women on the affair. Women would take over the community affairs such as chief of police, traffic cops, councilmen, burgess, borough manager and other city posts.

The division will request borough council to continue the war on peddlers as the spring weather is bringing all kinds of peddlers into the community some of which are not carrying on a legitimate business.

Secretary R. J. Schill gave a report on the industrial progress of the community.

The summer closing hours for the stores starting May 1, will be 5:30 p. m.

Postponed Dance
Scheduled Tonight

Columbus A. C. Sponsoring
Program At Columbus
Society Hall

The postponed dance for the Christopher Columbus A. C. has been scheduled for tonight at 8:30 o'clock, in the Columbus society hall, South Liberty street.

This will be a benefit dance and the proceeds will be used to purchase uniforms and equipment for the Columbus A. C. team.

Those on the committee include Skip Russo, Chic Russo, Tony Funnara, and Tony Compello. John Dochko will be in charge of the music.

MRS. RALPH TAYLOR
ENTERTAINS GROUP

Members of the Sheehy-Miller Auxiliary of the Mahoning Methodist church, held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Taylor, West Cherry street, Monday evening.

There were 15 members present and Mrs. O. C. Mauck was in charge of devotionals. Mrs. John Conn was in charge of the study book chapter for the month.

Plans were made for a tureen dinner at the church on Wednesday, May 1.

Mrs. Taylor was aided in serving a delicious luncheon by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Jess Gehrken and Mrs. Perry Elmore.

CONGREGATION TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Congregation of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will meet in the church at 7:45 o'clock, Wednesday evening. Business of the church will be transacted at this time.

A meeting of the church Session is also scheduled for Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock.

The reading room at the Mahoningtown Branch library is again in need of some magazines. If there is any person who has magazines at home of rather current dates, and would like to donate them to the library, it would be appreciated.

Many people avail themselves of the opportunity to read magazines and books at the library each week. The Seventh Ward library is open two days each week on Monday and Thursday.

REV. J. E. MYERS
TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. J. E. Myers, Jr., will come to Mahoningtown on Sunday, to take charge of the services at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

Rev. Myers will not begin his duties with the church at this time however. He will take over the local church after he graduates from Princeton Theological Seminary in May.

NEWS BRIEFS IN

Plant 3,000,000
Bushels Of Seed
Potatoes In State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 9.—Approximately 3,000,000 bushels of potatoes are planted each year in this state while on the average less than 200,000 bushels of Pennsylvania certified seed are available, the department of agriculture reported.

In 1939 Pennsylvania ranked 13th in the production of all varieties of certified seed potatoes in the United States with a total production of 23,000 bushels. The eight varieties certified were grown in 13 counties. They are Russet Rural, Nittany, White Rural, Katahdin, Pennigan, Bliss Triumph, Chippewa and Irish Cobbler.

Pennsylvania farmers spend at least $8,000,000 annually for seeds to grow various farm crops, according to John H. Light, secretary of agriculture. "When the importance of seed quality is considered along with seed cost, we have a combination which constitutes one of the major cogs in the machine which makes crop production a success or failure," he said.

Baptist Missionary To Philippine Islands Arrives Home Early This Morning

Miss Beulah Heaton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Heaton, Park avenue, a missionary to the Philippine Islands, arrived in New Castle early this morning for her first visit to her home in over four years.

Miss Heaton arrived in San Francisco last Wednesday, went on to Chicago, arriving there Saturday night, and came to New Castle from Chicago. She stated that it was "grand to be back." The Teachers Training class of the First Baptist church and their teacher, Mrs. S. J. Callahan, were among those who met Miss Heaton at the train. Dr. Heaton is pastor of the First Baptist church.

Before sailing for America, Miss Heaton spent a week in Hong Kong, going there on a British ship. She stated that the ship, which carried only four American and 17 Japanese passengers was blacked out every night because of the war.

On Friday, Miss Heaton will attend the Association of Baptists Conference at Johnson City, N. Y.

Spring Frolic Of Former West Side Pupils To Occur In V. F. W. Hall

Wednesday evening will be another of those "Red Letter" affairs for former pupils of the West Side school, who will gather in the V. F. W. hall at 126½ East Washington street for the annual spring frolic.

President Hugh D. Horton announces that the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair have arranged a big program of entertainment, which will keep everyone busy for at least three hours.

A floor show has been planned, which will feature the Heckart Sisters in songs and dances; Don Howard, and his accordion; the Minner sisters in dances; Francis Barnes, radio songbird; Jesse Heckart in violin numbers; Billy Williams, the West Side songster; Al Evans, and his Moose band; and Clay Aubel and his movies. The Old Maestro, Hughie Horton, will preside; and Ida Suber and Gay Shuliff will have charge of bingo.

Lunch will be served at the close of the program with Nell Fulkerson and her aides in charge. It will be one of the biggest events the West Siders have staged in many a day, and will no doubt attract a big crowd.

Baseball Season Just Week Away

Many Believe That New York Yanks And Cincinnati Reds Will Again Play Series

REDS DEPENDING ON TWO PITCHERS

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service
Editor
NEW YORK, April 9.—In just a week from today a baseball season which has caused as much advance speculation as any campaign in the history of the game will get under way, with the main questions to be settled centering around whether the Boston Red Sox can break the streak of the New York Yankees in the American League and what the St. Louis Cardinals and other National leaguers are going to do about the Cincinnati Reds.

No less an authority than Connie Mack, insists the Yankees can't win their fifth straight pennant. He likes the Red Sox, then the Cleveland Indians. The betting commissioners, however, have established the Yanks as odds-on favorites.

Yanks And Reds
Over in the other circuit there are a surprising number of presumable smart people who can't see the Reds, who pick the Cards and who look for a tough six-cup race. Those who adhere to the rule that you should string along with a champion until he is whipped base their opinion of a Cincinnati triumph on the probability that Paul Derringer and Buckie Walters will repeat their sensational mound performances of last season.

Putting it all together it still wouldn't be very surprising if the next world series were played in New York and Cincinnati just as the last was.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will have a regular meeting tonight at the Veterans of Foreign Wars rooms on East Washington street. Reports on the banquet will be made. The various chairmen will give their reports on their respective committees.

Trout fishing will no doubt receive a lot of attention at this meeting. Many of the streams are high at this time, but it is hoped that the waters will recede by next Monday morning when the army of Isaac Walton's take to their favorite streams. Fish Warden "Roe" White will have a few rules for the local boys to follow on the opening season.

J. E. Myers, agent for the Canadian National Railways will be present tonight with sound technical pictures of game and fish, which will be an added treat for those attending the meeting.

Dean Looks Good In Holding Cards

(International News Service)

Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs said he didn't want to get excited too soon but "I hope Dean's showing is the forerunner of a great comeback." Manager Fred Haney of the Browns declared:

"Dean showed me two fast balls, those with which he struck out Rip Radcliff and Harland Clift, which convinced me that he can again pitch regularly and win in the National League."

Umpire Bill Grieve said: "From behind the plate it seemed as though Ditz depended mostly on slow stuff, but he hid zip when he needed it."

Ship 10,000 Pheasants From Local Game Farm; Laying Season Starting

Jordan State Game Farm, near Harlansburg, shipped 7,300 pheasant cocks and 2,680 pheasant hens to scattered sections of Pennsylvania "for spring liberation." Farm Superintendent Kenneth N. Brenne-man announced today.

The farm's "laying season" this spring started April 4—though it usually starts about March 27—and if the egg-laying average of past years is upheld more than 85,000 eggs will have been laid by mid-June.

"And mister," smiled the farm's boss, "that's a lot of eggs."

Sports World Ramblings

Local tales in tidbits—New Castle's loss to Uncle Sam's gain. We refer to George Bodendorfer, the local Bill Dickey, who joined the Army sometime ago. In between chores, Bodendorfer crawls into a catcher's costume and stars with the Army diamond club in Honolulu. George was Ryan town's star receiver before donning military regalia.

Contrary to all beliefs, football players are handy men in other sports. As an example, we offer New Castle High's track squad which is dotted with Hurricane grid performers. Sammy Calazza, the ball-o-fire, is trying his hand at broad jumping, an event which should add a bit more technique to his repertoire.

Don Jerry, who comes from a well known cinder-path family (his father, Frank, is the noted marathon runner) in vying for a distance job. Don was a first string guard. . . . Tommy Gilboy, the talented guard, hopes to grab a distance berth, ditto for "Frub" Morgan, the lightning center. Bob Bechtel, a reserve, is competing for the broad jump post.

Further down we note that "Raggy" Gennock, who participates in several pastimes, is battling for the pole vault slot. Joe Gender, the pass thrower is still tossing—only it's a javelin this time. "Tim" Temenski, tackle, is pitching the discus and javelin. If nothing else, track keeps the gridironers in shape.

Along the rue de sekerse we find that "Baby" Ritorio has upped his victory, this time disposing of

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fighters usually have two ambitions, one to beat some hot rival and the second to wear a pugilistic diadem. They'll agree to almost any terms to obtain the essential fight. In many cases they must emigrate from town to town before the cherished ambition is achieved. In many instances a faithful disciple of punch has had his efforts crowned with success. For instance, George Chip attained the idea he could and did beat Frank Klaus and today in this city is Johnny Dean who would like to fight Billy Soose; not because the Farrellite is a champion but because of what happened a year or more ago in California.

Dean and Soose fought a preliminary, Soose got the nod. Dean asserts Soose, a great friend of Dick Powell and a charge of Paul Moss, won via Hollywood publicity. We don't know, not having seen the fight. However, next Monday night Dean takes on Jimmie Bivin of Cleveland in a preliminary to the Teddy Yaross-Jimmy Reeves fight. Dean hopes to beat Bivin and do it so decisively the promoters will hear his plea "Get Soose!" and arrange for a meeting. Johnny, an ex-Marine, is training in the Jefferson Athletic club.

Among these helping Johnny while they also condition their own frames are Frankie Moran, southpaw featherweight, and Russell Baxter. Their next entry in the fistie wars will be April 22. Moran is scheduled to fight some good featherweight from Cecil while Andy Benesch of Youngstown, will provide the worries for Russell. George Saunders, Golden Gloves champion of Youngstown will take on Spaky Jarisk, Sun-Tele champion at 175. This should be a whale of a fight. Ohio fans are expected to travel here to see Saunders against the Pittsburgh champion. Among the other good boys will be Billy Murray of Cecil, who is no-bomber's push-over at 135 vs. Johnny Swanton, Youngstown, and Sonny Horne, Youngstown's best-looking amateur at 147 against Cameron Stewart of the same city.

Lawrence County Baseball league will meet again Friday night in the Sport Goods store and before 11 p. m. the league will have closed its door to teams seeking a franchise. At present six clubs have entered the league and their franchise money has been paid. They are Bessemer, the Wampum White Sox, Wampum Medusa, New Castle Hot Tots, Ellwood City and Brent. So far nothing has been heard from Hillsville. It is hoped that Hillsville would appreciate eight teams. Should Hillsville come through and another club take out a franchise eight teams would make up the loop.

April 15 is the first day of trout season and it is only natural that the fishermen are getting their rods, reels and lines ready. Some passed hours during the winter making enticing lures. Twenty thousand trout were placed in Lawrence county streams. Some of the creeks which were swollen started to subside but yesterday's rain caused the water to rise again. With lower water and warmer weather there should be plenty of trout taken next Monday.

TEN TEAMS IN LOOP THIS YEAR

Officials of the City Baseball league together with the managers of the various teams will have a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the St. Joseph's Parish hall, Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, president of the league will conduct the meeting.

There are ten teams in the league as follows—West Pittsburgh, Slovak A. C., Ryantown, West Side Tigers, Mahoningtown, A. C., Elder A. C., Croton A. C., Lawrence Indies, St. Joseph's and Moose.

Select Commissioners
All franchise money must be in the hands of Treasurer Michael "Jake" Babovsky tonight. A Board of Commissioners to handle all disputes will be picked tonight.

A starting date will also be set by the managers tonight. There is considerable interest in the league this year. The Slovaks won the title in 1939 and hope to repeat. The West Pittsburgh team champs the first two years of the league will have something to say about the championship this year says Manager Denny DeGenova and Captain Ralph "Blackie" Fundoots.

Fields Need Fixing
It will not be long before the various fields, can be fixed up. Owing to lack of a place to play the K. Pulaski team was forced to quit the league. The Union Civics did not ask for a franchise either this year.

The meeting tonight is for baseball managers and officials of the league only. No outsiders will be allowed in the meeting room. No players nor other interested persons will be admitted to the meeting hall. This is to be a baseball meeting strictly for baseball discussion and purposes.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The school bus must be safe. Increasing highway traffic offers added hazards.

Pennsylvania has yet had no major school bus catastrophe. Rigid enforcement of safety rules accounts for this record.

Much depends on the drivers of the school bus.

He must be thoroughly reliable and of good moral character.

He must be able bodied and free from communicable disease.

He is responsible for maintaining discipline on the bus.

No school bus is to exceed a speed of 35 miles per hour.

All routes are planned for safety and convenience.

Most buses are colored so that automobilists may know them.

Protect the school bus and its precious cargo.

GERMANS INVENT ARTIFICIAL FIBRE TO REPLACE IRON

(International News Service)

BERLIN—Artificial fibre to replace iron.

This new German invention has caused a sensation in the Reich's iron industries. According to official information, it is the so called Pe-Ce-Fibre, which is made out of coal and chalk, two raw materials which Germany possesses in unlimited quantities.

The chemical-physical properties of the Pe-Ce-Fibre make it completely waterproof, unaffected by alkali, acid or any other chemicals. The fibre is said to resist decomposition, does not burn while the tensile strength of the fibre is even higher than that of steel.

The fibre will be used prominently to replace iron rods hitherto used in iron-concrete.

War-Babies' In Market Boom

Trading At Fast Pace Through First Hour In New York Market Today

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service

Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 9.—"War-babies" boomed in the stock market today but other sections sold off, as the European war theater expanded with the German invasion of Denmark and Norway.

Trading was at a fast pace through the first hour, with the ticker running a minute late.

Commodities also soared, wheat spurring better than 5 cents a bushel before meeting profit-taking. Scandinavian bonds fell apart on the exchange, overnight losses running from 25 to 40 points. Sterling tumbled 12 cents to a new seven-year bottom of $3.44, and other European currencies suffered comparable declines.

The pace slowed after the heavy turnover at the start, and profit-taking cut into gains of such "war" groups as steels, aviation, copper, sugar, and paper issues. Gains had run to more than 5 points in International Paper preferred, while Key Steel issues were up 3 or more points. Active aircraft manufacturers' stocks advanced a point and more, all reaching new highs for the year. Bethlehem also reached a new top.

CHICAGO STUDENTS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—Two of every three University of Chicago students work to pay at least part of their tuition, the Alumni Foundation of the university has disclosed in a pamphlet.

The pamphlet distributed to alumni, points out that the students still find time however, to hold 5,883 memberships in the 134 recognized extra-curricular activities on the midway quadrangles.

In addition to the jobs traditionally held by students working their way through the university, including waiting tables and tutoring, the undergraduates pursue unusual occupations such as professional tennis, lecturing, writing for publication, ballet dancing, modeling, and photography. The university, like most large educational institutions maintains an employment office.

Denmark Accepts German Protection 'Under Protest'

King Issues Proclamation Protesting Against Nazi Occupation Of Country

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
BERLIN, April 9.—Denmark has agreed to accept German protection, the official German news agency DNB reported from Copenhagen today.

"The Danish news dispatch stated: 'The Danish government, following negotiations between the premier and council of ministers and the German minister, decided in view of the circumstances to recognize German protection and accept conditions contained in the German note under protest.'

"Military action for the protection of Denmark against the French and British has been completed without friction."

"The Danish people, considering the special circumstances, have accepted the German measures calmly."

LONDON, April 9.—King Christian of Denmark issued a proclamation from the royal palace at Amalensborg protesting against the German occupation of his country and calling on the population to keep calm, a Reuters dispatch from Amsterdam stated today.

Annual Meeting At First Church

Presbyterians Name Officers For Year And Hear Reports Of Work Done

Annual election took place at the congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church, held Monday evening in the church. Charles L. Cripps, president of the board of trustees, presided.

The meeting resulted in the election of William F. Moody, Thomas Paden and Clarence B. Chambers to serve as trustees for three years, Marshall Matheny and George Carpenter, to serve as trustees for one year.

Others elected were: Church treasurer, Miss Maud Elder; secretary, Russell C. Melvin; auditors for benevolence fund, Carl L. Hanna, James S. Ball; auditors of current expense fund, James A. Rugh and Howard Kirk Jr.

Following the election, the work of the church for the past year was reviewed and reports of the various societies were presented.

The meeting was well attended and reports were considered satisfactory in every respect.

Aviators Are The Heroes Of Present War

(International News Service)
LONDON.—Aviators are the heroes of the present war. Britain's young air force likes publicity and is getting plenty of it. Newspapers devote columns of space to their exploits, and their pictures are prominently displayed in all popular magazines.

On the other hand the tradition-bound British navy dislikes publicity. Except in a few cases, such as the victory over the Graf Spee, little is ever revealed concerning its activities. English reporters, assigned to do an article on the navy, usually are forced to dwell lengthily on the defeat of the Spanish Armada and Nelson's victory at Trafalgar. The modern touch is supplied by a few pictures of present-day cruisers.

Circus Skating Act Stars Father, Son

A hair-raising roller skating act will be one of the thrillers of the Y. M. C. A. indoor circus in the "Y" gym Thursday and Friday evenings, April 11 and 12. Performing will be Lynn Irwin and his nine-year-old son, Bobby. Their act has merit enough to hit the professional stage and both performers have been diligently working and practicing a thrilling routine. Bobby, it will be remembered put on a solo act last year which took the show by storm. This year he has combined with his father and they promise to give the audience a real treat. Mr. Irwin in former years was an exhibition roller skater and his son shows outstanding ability.

AGREE TO FINGERPRINTING

(International News Service)
FORT WORTH, Tex.—The G-men aren't after any Texas Christian University students, but nearly 500 of them have had their fingerprints taken for the FBI. The fingerprinting was a voluntary matter in cooperation with the bureau's civil identification division.

CALLS ARITHMETIC OUTSTANDING HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA.—Boys and girls who don't intend going to college should be taught plain, every-day arithmetic in high school. That's the advice given educators by Claude L. Walton, Philadelphia chemical executive. He's found that half of job-seekers high school graduates can't do addition, fractions and division.

"They get these things in grammar school," said Walton, "and forget them in high school with algebra and geometry which are not much good to those not going to college."
